THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23.

The coming of Governor Hill into Ohio to aid in the efforts to defeat McKinley, is an evidence that the great republican campaign in the sixteenth district has frightened the Warwick forces. There is a high order of talent on both sides in the sixteenth district campaign.

There are complaints again of class legislation, that is that municipal orders are enforced upon widows and the poor fellows while others follow their own inclinations in the matter of improvements. The chief complaint relates to sidewalk orders. There ought to be no ground for such complaints.

Our able friend Beebe, of the Mt. Gilead Register, is making a strong and gallant fight to edit the sheriff's sales in Morrow county. The Register is having a great grief over the administration of the sheriff's office. Perhaps there is some cause for it, but we fear some of the grief of Mr. Beebe is affected.

The Columbus muddle is still unsettled, though a settlement of affairs is believed to be in sight. Governor Campbell has finally allied himself with the republicans to defeat the Cincinnati gang. Marion's representative continues to vote with the friends of the Cincinnati whom the Governor wishes to oust from office.

The patient newspaper reader will have to bear up just a little longer. One week from next Tuesday the election occurs and then the tariff talk will comparatively cease. Just now the tariff, the heavy editorials and the weeping because of the robbing of the people is for political effect. We shall hear but little more of it then for full two years. Next spring there will be other thomes and next fall will afford a campaign of purely state issues.

Working the Chopper.
"What's troubling you, Jakey?" inquired the proprietor of a Thirteenth avenue restaurant, as he noticed his head waiter hanging around the cash desk.
"De cock wants to know wot he do wid yestiddy's pieces."
"Much?"
"Quite some."
"Wot are they?"
"Der's half a ham, five cold veal cutlets, some liver, nutmeg chicken wings and twelve pieces of nutmeg."
"You tell de cock, Jakey, to put 'em in and work de chopper, and dea put on the black board."
"Special Today, Excelsior Croquettes, two for ten."
—New York Tribune.

At the Reception.
Barbara—Hickla, that gentleman over yonder is my friend, Mr. Floyd. May I present him?
Hickla—No, you must excuse me. He is the very man who kept his seat in the car the other evening when I told all the way.
Barbara—Really? Why, I am shocked. If he didn't have any regard for our sex he might at least have shown some consideration for age.—Life.

Caught in the Act.
Stranger—How much do you get for the golden rule?
Jeweler (nearly)—Young man, stop right there. I recognize you as the desperado who inquires for salvation, the pearl of great price, the celestial diamonds, the jewel of consistency and the gold of honesty. I want a price pair of ruby lips. If you don't light out at once I'll call the police. Jeweler's Review.

A Misadventure.
Teacher—Johnny, how many presidents has the country had?
Johnny—Knock! Knock!
"You must be thinking of that twelve apostles. Now let me hear you count the presidents." Begun.
"One, two, three, four."
Whack! whack! whack!—Texas Siftings.

Also, Big Title.
Mr. Dingling—Miller's bull again, eh? When will you ever learn to practice economy? You ought to remember that the fathers don't make fine birds.

Mr. Dingling—Arranging for horses. No, Ezra, but they make fine hats.—Lawrence American.

Gains Footwear.
Father—Ernest, make an awful racket when he went out last night. He must wear big shoes.

Clara—You're mistaken, papa. He had very light shoes on last night. I think he said they were two sizes.—Boston Herald.

Ayer's Pills, being convenient, efficacious and safe, are the best cathartics, whether on land or sea, in city or country. For constipation, sick headache, indigestion, torpid liver, they never fail. Try a box of them; they never fail.

We Can and Do.
Guarantee Dr. Ayer's Blood Purifier, for it has been truly demonstrated to the people of this country that it is superior to all other preparations for blood diseases. It is a positive cure for syphilis, poisoning, ulcers, eruptions and pimples. It purifies the whole system and thoroughly cleanses the constitution. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co. and W. B. Foye.

Not Guilty.
New York, Oct. 23.—James E. Maxwell, the letter carrier, who was indicted for robbing the mails, was yesterday acquitted by a jury in the United States circuit court.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The roller skating rink has again broken out in London.

The postponement of the election fair from 1897 to 1898 involves also the postponement of the Catholic congress.

The old Dutchess and Dutchess are an art, but they do not salute to the clerk or to the clerk on the month was considered vulgar.

The little Princess Wilhelmina, the Dutch heir apparent, is now 19 years old. She has an English governess and speaks English as well as she does her native tongue.

Five factories make the little capsules in which nauseating medicines are concealed. The largest of them is at Detroit, where quantities of the little gelatine boxes are manufactured.

John Boyle O'Reilly once said that he had found the true fraternal spirit to exist at its best in convicts, soldiers and journalists.

A coffin of wicker work is sometimes used when the body is to be cremated, and undertakers are endeavoring to introduce coffins covered with pale pink, blue and heliotrope velvet or plush.

New York city has the most efficient force of transit officers in its history. Officers are stationed at the ferries to keep Brooklyn and Jersey city children from getting into the city schools.

Gen. Baranilla's married daughter will shortly visit the United States to consult with the president concerning her father's murder. She is now with her mother at Oaxaca, Mexico.

It is reported that three nails of the true cross have been found in a very singular place, namely, in the ruins of the theatre at Zurich, which was burned down. They were in a little ivory casket of admirable workmanship, together with a manuscript of parchment, and were buried up within a little cavity of the sub-structure. It is presumed that these relics were hidden by monks during the reformation.

Always remember that the more genuine a curio appears, the better its chance with a good collector. A hundred years ago a mania arose among European collectors to have their pictures re-canvassed. Ask any art dealer now what he thinks of the process.

There are 250 members of the Hair Dressers' academy in London, all men, females not being admitted, as being inferior artists. The academy meets once a week for lessons upon living models, though new members practice upon a black head. A few women with the heads of hair serve as models, but a better field for practice is provided by scantily haired women, upon whose heads the true ingenuity and resources of the hair dresser can find the fullest opportunity for producing a grand effect with little material.

It is proposed to put 500 to 1,000 steel tubular frame eight wheeled wagons, fitted with automatic brakes, on the government railways in Natal, and that they shall be paid for by one-half the annual savings made by using them in moving freight, as compared with the cost of moving an equal quantity on ordinary wagons.

It Was the Cat.
From Chicago comes a story of a babe, 6 months old, being killed by a big cat, which "sucked the infant's breath." Although well informed persons say that cats do not "suck the breath," but sometimes suffocate the child by cuddling up on its breast and throat for warmth, the gossip will have it that the Chicago case is well founded. On Monday afternoon the baby was put in the cradle, the cat being placed alongside it for a plaything. During the afternoon it was noticed that the cat kept continually near the baby's bed, but little attention was paid to this. In the evening the mother, thinking her child was sleeping more quietly than usual, went to the cradle to take it out, and was horrified to find the infant dead. "The cat had sucked its life away." Efforts were made to resuscitate the child, but without avail. The cat is one of the common species and particularly large. It has been a household pet for several years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Athletics and College Popularity.
"How far a college's popularity depends upon its success in athletics is still a disputed question. Many of the younger college graduates maintain that when a college has made a brilliant record in athletics the tide turns in that direction. Older men are not so willing to admit this, at least in whole. There have been several upsets in athletics recently. Yale undoubtedly leads all colleges today in their athletic achievements. Princeton's record last year was a failure. Harvard seems to be in an unhappy position. Perhaps if we watch the attendance less of entering collegians we shall be able to make up our minds this year as to the influence on young men's choice which victories on the water and on the field exert." This is the opinion of a college graduate who believes in all legitimate encouragement of athletics, and who yet prefers to believe that most men go to college for the college, not for its athletic possibilities.—New York Tribune.

The Collection Settled Five Cents.
At a revival meeting in a neighboring town, where several Springfield ministers assisted, a collection was taken every night to pay the traveling expenses of the visiting preacher. On one evening when seventy-five people were present the total amount gathered in the collection boxes was five cents.—Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

No New Color for the President.

Superintendent. It is a common notion, derived from Washington, that the color of the President's coat should be changed at the inauguration. At Washington would not take any action until next summer in regard to the provision now made for the color of the President's coat. It is a common notion, derived from Washington, that the color of the President's coat should be changed at the inauguration. At Washington would not take any action until next summer in regard to the provision now made for the color of the President's coat.

Since the bill became a law Superintendent of the building has been in receipt daily of letters from persons anxious to enter into the competition, showing a wide-spread interest in the subject. As it was hoped to change the five-cent nickel piece and get rid of the huzzard dollar as quickly as possible, the delay will be received with universal regret.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Irish Black Rent.
The trouble about the Irish rent question is that the Irish people generally consider a rent contract as having no moral obligation. The truth has been handed down from generation to generation that their ancestors were wrongfully dispossessed of their lands, and that the title of the large landlords, while really perfect enough, is in its last analysis based upon robbery. The rent is therefore considered not so much a pecuniary burden as a patriotic grievance.

Without our fathers it was not the price of the tea, but the principle of the tea tax, that led to the revolution, and in like manner, as the Irishman looks at it, the rent is not so much a financial as a political question, though when the crops fail payment of the rent is an impossibility. To the extent of considering it a political question the English government agrees with him, and hence the recent arrests. If pounds and pence only were involved it would have left the landlord to take care of himself.—New York World.

Didn't Want a Pension.
John Parkhill, of Portland, who has made himself famous as being the only man in the United States who did not want a pension, passed through Astoria on his way to San Francisco to the volunteer firemen's reunion. Mr. Parkhill, who is over 60 years of age, served through the Seminoles war in Florida in 1835, and also in the Mexican war.

He was one of the handful of frontiersmen who raised a company to fight the Mexicans before the United States took the matter in hand, and afterward served all through the war. He refused to enter the War of the Rebellion because he thought it was too much like fighting brothers.

For years pension agents have made life a burden to him in their endeavors to secure a pension for him. He fought them manfully for a long time, as he said he was able to make his living. Finally the papers came and with them his back pension, and it has been coming ever since, actually forced on him against his will.—Astoria (Ore.) Columbian.

Coachman Williams' Luck.
Coachman John Williams, who guards the horse-drawn of E. C. Howe, of Bristol, is in luck. He has just returned from a trip to California, where his uncle died recently, leaving a large estate. The interest on $75,000 was bequeathed to John and his brother William, who lives at Blackburn, N. Y. The wealthy decedent, Theodore Luderick, immigrated to America from Metz, Germany, in 1819, during the gold excitement in California, and he went to that state with only enough money to pay his fare. He got into the mining business and prospered. In 1826 he was worth $100,000,000, but during the panic in 1873 he lost heavily. Before his death he left several millions to charitable institutions in his country.—Philadelphia Record.

Courted Nine Girls at Once.
At Lowell William Anderson, who was arrested on suspicion of larceny, is quite a character. In his possession was found a memorandum book, recording the fact that he was courting nine girls. For convenience sake he had them numbered from one to nine inclusive, and when he had occasion to refer to them in the memorandum it was by number.

One entry is the fact that No. 15 became aware that he was courting No. 6 to places of amusement. His description of No. 7 will make her bear her hair if she read it. While traveling Anderson recorded that he had letters from eight of the girls on the way. Anderson has a residence in Portland, Me., and was at one time a polo player.—Cor. Boston Globe.

A Bright Prospect.
Customer: Be sure and make those clothes last. I expect to put on ten or fifteen pairs of them.

Tailor: Yes, sir. Taking a course of treatment.

Customer: No. I've just got back from my vacation. Clothes and Furniture.

A Good Start.
I just saw a fine horse of New England with a tail as long as 60 feet, and a mane as long as 10 feet. The horse was a yearling, and the mane and tail were as straight as a line. The owner said that he was going to keep the horse for a long time.

Scientific College Back.
The scientific college at Cambridge, Mass., has just received a large donation of scientific instruments from a wealthy citizen. The instruments include a large telescope, a spectrometer, and a variety of other scientific apparatus. The college is very grateful for the donation.

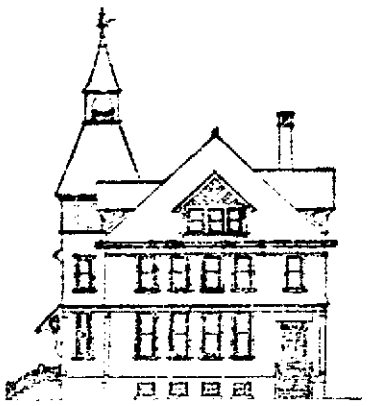

A TWO STORY SCHOOL HOUSE.

For the 11th House Seats Fifty-two Pupils. To Cost from $60,000 to $100,000. The school house is a two-story building, with a central tower and a large hall. It is designed to accommodate fifty-two pupils, and is estimated to cost from $60,000 to $100,000.

The building is a two-story structure, with a central tower and a large hall. It is designed to accommodate fifty-two pupils, and is estimated to cost from $60,000 to $100,000.

The design here given is suitable for a small town or village. The general dimensions of the building are 30 by 50 feet, and each room is 14 feet in height in the clear. There is a basement story, a first floor, and a second floor. The building is designed to be a model of simplicity and efficiency.

The main entrance is in the tower, and opens directly into a large vestibule, which is also used as a waiting room, and is directly connected with the principal's room. The principal's room is a small room, and is connected with the vestibule by a door. The building is designed to be a model of simplicity and efficiency.

Sudden Deaths.

It is noteworthy that the most frequent cause of sudden death, which, in three out of four cases, is unexpected. The symptoms of a fatal disease are often present, but are not recognized. The most common cause of sudden death is a heart attack, which is often preceded by a series of symptoms, such as chest pain, shortness of breath, and dizziness.

Can't Sleep Nights.
In the morning of the 20th, a gentleman, who had been suffering from a long illness, died. He had been unable to sleep for several nights, and his condition was very poor.

Woman, Lovely Woman!
A woman, who had been suffering from a long illness, died. She had been unable to sleep for several nights, and her condition was very poor.

Success in Life.
The result of push and energy. If the head is in the right place, and the body is in the right place, success is sure to follow.

Horses, Cattle and Chickens.
For sale and gratis, for lung fever, cough or hoarse throat, a new medicine, which is a sure cure for all these ailments.

The Weather.
Cloudy weather and rain; continued cool southerly winds.

Snatching Babies.
The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hemphill, of Butler, Pa., writes that when his son was six years old, he was snatched by a man, who took him to a distant place. The boy was found after a search of several days, and was returned to his parents.

Jewelry Robbery.
HOLYOKE, Mass., Oct. 23.—Burglars entered Wilson's jewelry store here yesterday morning and secured nearly $1,000 worth of booty.

The "Mother's Friend."
Not only shortens labor and lessens pain during it, but greatly diminishes the danger to the mother and child. It is a sure cure for all ailments of the mother and child.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its victims. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or groin, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood.

Scrofula

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which her mother consented. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed, and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. C. JONES, Alas, Lincoln County, Me.

LAWRENCE T. NEAL

speaks to a Small Democratic Audience at Music Hall.

There was but a handful of democrats and a few republicans present at Music Hall Wednesday evening when Lawrence T. Neal, of Chillicothe, was introduced. It was a significant contrast to meetings of other campaigns, showing an apparent lack of enthusiasm. The audience would not number over two hundred people, republicans and democrats and two ladies. There was an apparent effort to applaud twice during the course of the speech, but one effort was a misapprehension. The speaker started out by saying that the tariff should not be a political issue, and then fell in the line of democratic argument that the tariff is a tax. The McKinley bill was discussed from that standpoint, with the conclusion that it would foster monopolies, increase the price of clothing of all kinds from 20 to 40 per cent, and impoverish the working classes and the poor farmer, but failed to prove his arguments by any actual instance where clothing cost more, since the passage of the McKinley bill. Tin plate, too, received a good share of Mr. Neal's attention, and he stated in substance that the increased tariff on tin plate would ruin the canning factories, turn thousands of men out of employment, and make common everyday canned corn, peaches, tomatoes, etc., delicacies and luxuries, beyond the reach of the laboring man. Mr. Neal further attempted to account for the contrast in wages between workmen in America and those in England, and concluded it was because the American workmen did twice the work of his English brother, who only received half as much pay. Mr. Neal spoke about an hour in which he said a great many things, and there were a great many things he did not say. He did not talk on local issues, mentioned Mr. Hale's name twice, did not say anything about the B. & O. or the extraordinary session of the legislature. At the conclusion of his remarks the audience arose quietly and without demonstration of any kind, left the hall. The speaker was compelled to curtail his remarks in order to get a train out of town.

Gymnasium Meeting.

Those who have signed to become members of the Gymnasium are notified that a meeting will be held on Thursday night, Oct. 23, at City Hall, to hear the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws and elect officers. A full attendance will be gratifying to those who have planned the organization, and serve to give the project a good start.

Children Enjoy

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be constipated, the mother or gratifying results follow. It is so pleasant that it is the best family remedy known, and every family should have a bottle.
